

BLANKETS and COMFORTERS

The cool, chilly nights and early mornings make you say mighty quick, "B-r-r-r, where is the blanket?" If you plan buying a blanket or comforter, wisdom points and to immediate purchase.

Nashua Wool-nap Blankets

For hard service there are no better Blankets made than these. Though all cotton, they are remarkably warm and strong. They have a deep soft nap that is permanent. They won't shrink or tear out. All colors and sizes, priced from $1.75 to $3.00. Other Cotton Blankets 75c and up.

Capp's Indian Blankets

Our assortment of these beautiful Blankets is complete in every detail. We have the subdued shades of the southern tribes, and the wild riots of colors of the northern Indians. They come in beautiful combinations of colors and every Blanket is 100 per cent. wool.

Bath Robe Blankets

The new Bath Robe Blankets are now on display in a big range of colors and designs. Be sure to see them while the assortment is at its best.

Mrs. Frank Shuttle of East Lynn, Mass., is visiting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Mudgett of West Patterson street for a few days.

Walter Elwood of the Miles block left yesterday for Hardwick, where he has found employment in one of the Hardwick stonehills.

Henry Gill visited friends in the city yesterday while on his way home to Lanesboro, after passing a few days with friends in Burlington.

H. F. Skeels, who is employed in Hotel Vermont in Burlington, returned to his work yesterday, after passing a few days with friends in Barre.

S. P. Safford of Sutton, P. Q., arrived in the city yesterday and will spend several days here on business in connection with his hides and pelts concern.

F. R. Lyons, who arrived in the city from Lancaster, N. H., Saturday night, commenced his duties as substitute driver in the Barre fire department yesterday.

Thomas Tomas of North Main street, a member of the Spaulding high school class of 1915, left yesterday for Medford, Mass., where he will enroll as a student this week.

George V. Wamburr arrived in the city last night, while en route from his home in Montreal, P. Q., to Worcester, Mass. Mr. Wamburr will enter the freshmen class at Holy Cross college this fall.

Auction sale to-morrow for George Jerry, near South Northfield; 12 cows and 21 four-week-old pigs, good clean property; sale commences at 1:30 p. m. See ad., this paper. C. F. Smith, auctioneer—adv.

Miss Elsie Barrow, who has been staying with relatives on the east hill since the latter part of June, left yesterday for her home in Glen Falls, N. Y., where she will enroll as a student in the high school this fall.

At 2:30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon on the premises at corner of Birch and Green streets, Batchelder's meadow, will be sold two building lots. Very desirable location. Don't miss this opportunity. D. A. Perry, auctioneer—adv.

Kenneth Allen of Maple avenue, who has been employed by Thomas Carson during the summer months, has completed his duties there and left yesterday for East Montpelier, where he has secured employment in the electrical plant.

The company playing "Everywoman" in the opera house this evening arrived in the city to-day from White River Junction and are registered at Hotel Barre. From this city the players will go to Burlington for matinee and evening performances.

Glen Lougee, who returned to Barre last week to visit his mother, Mrs. Josie Lougee, for a few days, after being employed at Dixville Notch, N. H., since last spring, left yesterday for Gilbertville, Mass., where he will be employed at the Mixer Stock farms, as a herdsman.

Clayton C. Spencer, who has been staying at the home of his father, Maynard F. Spencer of Currier street since his graduation from Tufts college last June, left yesterday for Plymouth, N. H., where he will be engaged as a teacher of chemistry, mathematics and science.

Friends of Miss Bertha Stilson of Proctor, formerly a teacher in Spaulding high school, will be interested to learn that she is a member of the teaching staff at St. Johnsbury academy, which reopened to-day. Miss Stilson has been engaged as an instructor in the Latin courses at the academy.

Arthur Corcoran, who has been playing with the Italian A. C. for the past month, left yesterday for his home in Boston. Mr. Corcoran came to Barre from the strong St. Johnsbury nine and before he played with the hot corner for Laconia, the fast New Hampshire team.

Mrs. Selma Albano, whose premises at the corner of South Main and Quarry streets were raided for alleged counterfeit goods yesterday, was admitted to bail of $500 for her own appearance and $50 on the liquor late in the afternoon.

With the appearance of her bondsman, Mrs. Albano was given her liberty. A hearing in the case will be held later in the week.

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Cordier of Hill street, whose sudden death occurred Sunday afternoon, will be held in the Church of the Good Shepherd on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, instead of 2 o'clock as was previously announced. Prayer services at the home will be held at 2 o'clock. The rector, Rev. W. J. A. Beattie, will officiate and interment will be made in the family lot in Elmwood cemetery.

Bids received by the city clerk on the South Main street paving project will be opened at the regular meeting of the city council this evening and while the proposals may have a common fate with the jail bridge tenders, it is certain that the councilmen will give the bids a pretty thorough examination. All hope of starting the work this fall has been abandoned, but the matter of awarding the contract will be disposed of at once if the bids do not exceed the appropriation.

The tentative contract calls for the laying of 7,000 square yards of paving, the stone work to begin at the present paving terminus and continue as far south as the jail bridge bridge. If the councilmen can divert their attention from the all-absorbing topic of street improvement for a little time, they may listen to a report from the charity committee on the question of whether the office of city physician was automatically vacated when Dr. P. S. Duffy left town. A disagreement over the fee to be charged by the opera house lease for home talent entertainments may be settled in a report from the property committee.
